

Aki Murnane

July 31, 2024

Aki ( Japanese for born in Autumn) was the light of my life during the only four years that he was with me. He sported the biggest, white, furry pantaloons I've ever seen on a feline. His crystal blue eyes looked right through me with love and affection. He adored his daily belly rubs and leg n' foot massages to no end. This big guy took a piece of my heart when he crossed the Rainbow Bridge. I think about him often and miss his presence to no end.