

Catticus Dean

July 8, 2025

Catticus was a feisty little fellow who became my emotional support animal. He could always sense when I was feeling sad or anxious and would crawl into my lap like a little ball. He would fall asleep on my shoulder at night and wake me up just the same. He wasn't always the friendliest to newcomers but he was extremely loving to me. I'm going to miss him from the bottom of my heart.