

Coco Jain

July 16, 2010 - October 15, 2025

Cookie, Coco girl, princess, diva, Coco Puff, Cookie dough, My Lady, Cokes, Girl dog, Lady Dog. This trial puppy came for a weekend and stayed for many. I only wish there were more. There was never a day in her life when she didn't wag her tail when she saw us. Our cookie girl loved carrots, peanut butter, freshly cooked bread, cheese and lately, cucumbers. She was always happy and loved to give kisses. She braved IMHA and so much more but her body was just giving up. Coco was the queen of the house and gave Mango a good fight whether it was playing fetch or tug of war. She was a great climber and climbed the patio and doggy fence more than a few times in her life. She also chewed away most blankets and toys but loved a squishy comfy seat and often chose the most plush area in the house. She was a great traveler, loved to dress up and look good, and pranced around Manhattan and DC with panache and grace. Run free and without pain sweetheart. Hope you are still keeping the upper paw in the game of fetch with your best bud Mango. Love you cookie. They stay with us for such a short time. Coco left a hole in our hearts and vaccum in our lives. You were not just my soul dog like Mango, but were also a part of my soul, which you took away on this journey. Till we meet again, my Cookie Girl ♡

This is a link for our other dog Mango's tribute also pasted on her page. If this can be included at the end, would appreciate. Thanks

<https://www.schoedingerpets.com/m/obituaries/mango-jain/Memories>