

Cougar Brown

July 22, 2022

Our beloved Cougar passed away on July 22, 2022- he lived to nearly 18 (17 years 9 months). He lived wonderfully up until the end when his body started giving out and it was time to say goodbye. Cougar was so much more than just a pet. If you can find a soulmate in an animal, Cougar was that for me. He entered my life as a little kitten, when I was 25- he's been with me through everything. Grad school, jobs, apartments, cities, friends, boyfriends, joys and devastations in life. He was my one constant - he was integral to my life and my adulthood- we were a team. He loved: treats, people that would sit on the couch quietly and pet him, laying in clean laundry, more treats, cheesecake, catching toys, laying in the sun, talking back to humans, drinking water out of cups, running around in the middle of the night, and of course, more treats. He hated: people who were condescending towards him, baths, dogs, other cats (pretty much any animal that wasn't him), loud people, and certain ex-boyfriends. I am comforted by the fact that I have zero regrets- we managed his senior years well, he was always a priority and he was happy and content until the end.

He was my furry companion and I'll miss him forever. Love you Cougar, thanks for everything.
