

Donald Parker Hysell

May 15, 2002 - January 15, 2018

To some, the life of Donald Parker may seem small. He isn't survived by known biological family. He didn't serve in the military or give to the community or lead in business. He didn't invent or compose or donate or share or perform.

He was a dog.

But he was not just a dog. He was our dog and, in exchange for food and shelter and care, he was grateful for us, protective of us, present with us, and content to be our companion for sixteen years. To some, his life may seem small. To us, he was everything and, in both life and memory, we will be as grateful for his time as he was for ours.
