

Ermine McQuillen

February 8, 2025

Over 7 years, Ermine went from a terrified, side-of-the road rescue to a cat that would fall asleep purring in the crook of my arm on the couch. She traveled across the country with me and learned how to be comfortable sitting outside on a leash while I read. She was the bravest, most loving, fluffiest little ball of white fur. I will forever miss her. She deserved much more life than she was given, and I am so incredibly grateful that I could give her a comfortable life while she was here.
