

Fae Buell

March 9, 2026

We sadly had to say goodbye to our sweet Fae on March 9, 2026, following a long and happy life. Fae made friends wherever she went, and she was very well-travelled. During our time together she lived in eight apartments or homes across five states, and visited many more. Across her travels, she built a village of people who loved and cared for her. It was always remarkable how adaptive she was to wherever and whomever she was with; at her peak, she had no fewer than four distinctly separate daily routines that she could immediately switch between depending on where she was staying or who was dog sitting for her. Fae loved to watch the world go by, whether sitting on a deck or porch or just looking out the window. She was a prolific jumper, easily leaping from a standstill to get on top of retaining walls or just jumping straight up into the air to show you how excited she was. She was accustomed to her standard tax of two bites of banana, two slices of clementine, or a sprinkling of shredded cheese whenever any of these were opened in our house. She could often be found perched on top of a sofa's backrest, sometimes to get a better view but usually as a preferred napping spot. More than anything, Fae always wanted to be where the people are. She was equally content to go on a hike or to sleep in at the foot of the bed on a Saturday morning, so long as she was with her people. She could usually be found as our "shadow" as we went about the house, always helping supervise cooking, gardening, and remote work. She had a favorite chair for watching TV and a favorite spot to sit next to you while reading. And she had an uncanny knack for knowing exactly when you just needed a dog curled up beside you. Our hearts are breaking, but only because of how much brighter our lives are because we shared them with this beautiful soul. Rest easy until we meet again, our truest companion and most faithful friend.

Tribute Wall

AB

“ 19 files added to the tribute wall

Alex Buell - March 22 at 11:26 PM