

Kane Jameson Staley

November 29, 2014 - June 23, 2020

Kane, my baby, my little prince, you were everything to me. From the time you were born in the bed beside me until you took your last breath, You were the sweetest most loving little cuddle bug I've ever met. You have had my heart always. You never left my side and you were always there when I needed you. Your cuddles instantly melted my heart, no matter what I was going through. You always slept with your tiny tongue sticking out just a tiny bit. You were way too perfect for this world baby boy. Until I hold you in my arms again I will hold your love and memory in my heart.
