

Kevin Doudna

April 7, 2020 - March 19, 2024

Kevin was everything you would want from a pet, with lots extra. When we picked Kevin up from his breeder, it was love at first site. Then, we got home. From there it got rough. He was the hardest puppy to train, that first week I wanted to return him. It was so hard. He would not listen; the accidents were nonstop, and I was exhausted. He and I didn't give up though. Between the messes were big dark brown eyes that felt like they looked into your soul, endless cuddles, and a love I can't describe. He was worth the struggle. Over the last few years Kevin grew to become what I described as my soulmate. I loved that dog. We would go on coffee runs to Dunkin Donuts every Saturday. He was always so amped up to get his "pupcup." He would howl in the drive thru. He eventually took to potty training; the accidents became few and far between and he turned into the best boy. A mama's boy. Never leaving my side.

In 2023, we found out we were expecting a baby, I worried he wouldn't take well to being second in our home. Boy was I wrong, he was so interested in the baby, never mean to her, always right by our side. I believe that Kevin taught me how to be a good mom. He taught me how through hard work, comes wonderful rewards. He was a blessing in my life, and I will never understand how his life ended so suddenly. I live in peace knowing that he is running, jumping and being himself up in heaven. I pray I will meet him there again one day.
