

Lobo Panda

September 9, 2011 - September 19, 2024

lobo was rescued from a los angeles shelter by shadow husky rescue the day they were going to put him down. he was a red and white siberian husky, so beautiful he should have been a model for pet products, not in a shelter fighting for his freedom and life. he was briefly fostered in a home near mine, but the cats didn't welcome him so he came to my house with my other 3 huskies and he never left. he was so calm and gentle and well behaved, i took him to the movies with my 12 year old twins the first day we had him and we were in awe. he was the most special boy ever. i got a tattoo of him wearing a space helmet because he was truly out of this world. he had the strength like no other. he survived sepsis, hemangiosarcoma, and the most complicated kidney /mass removal anyone in the hospital had ever seen. he stunned doctors for years, carrying on so healthy and happy, defying all odds. he had a special walk that i called his happy trot, and he loved to feel the wind against his face as we drove in the car. he was so easy to care for, so easy to love and just the most unique, outstanding dog. forever my special boy. we love you so much lobo!!! until we meet again, and we will meet again. we'll miss you so much every minute of every day until then, rest safely in the loving arms of your daddy in painless paradise.

Tribute Wall

AP

“ one of the many reasons i initially fell in love with lobo was his clumsiness. he would lift his leg to pee and sometimes lose his balance.
he would excitedly jump up onto the curb after crossing the street, but a little too soon 😅 he would do the craziest zoomies anytime we came home and he'd bump into things or dive off the porch making us always worry he was gonna get hurt but he didn't care, he was having a blast!!!
he was so funny and fun ☐☐

andi panda - October 02, 2024 at 05:14 PM

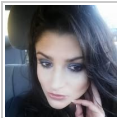

My deepest sincere condolences you gave him such a wonderful life and a second chance through thick and thin grief is the price we pay for love and you are his soulmate until you meet again all my deepest condolences Danielle

Danielle Wolf - October 02, 2024 at 05:16 PM

LO

My deepest condolences Panda, I know how much he meant to do, and you to him. He's one in a trillion and he's now your guardian Angel. I will always remember him, and now he's with my Radar running around enjoying eternal life until we meet with them again. Sending LOVE and PRAYERS

Lola - October 02, 2024 at 05:34 PM

My condolences. You gave Panda such an amazing life. Such a handsome boy! My thoughts and prayers are with you.

Jennifer Waellner - October 02, 2024 at 07:16 PM

TM

This silly beautiful boy is doing zoomies as we speak. I am sorry for this tremendous loss,, 😞 Always sooner than we would like 🐾🐕💔 hugs Andi ☐

Tom McMillian - October 02, 2024 at 07:22 PM

IV

So very sorry for this soul crushing loss

Irina Vlad - October 05, 2024 at 03:31 AM