

Midnight Holman

September 10, 2019

I remember the day i took you in. You were a little kitten. The next day i caught your mother. You and your mother were so happy to be reunited. You and she purred and caressed by touching each other repeatedly. Even when she was old, she would groom you. She adored her son, and i did also.