

Nina Bradley

February 14, 2013 - November 1, 2024

My wonderful NINA came into my life on April 13, 2014. I thought I was rescuing her but she ended up rescuing me, We did so much together, She loved to go bye bye, She slept with me at night, She knew when i was upset, She would dome to me and push her head under my hand so I would pick her up and love on her. My family called her Niner beaner She loved them as well. Her tail would go a mile a minute when she saw them. She would have seizers once in awhile when she felt one coming on she would come to me so I could hold her and rock her through them .I always told her she was a good girl and it was alright if she lost control of her bowls I would tell her it was ok. After she got through it I would let her know she was ok and I would clean up her accidents. I miss her so much there isn't a day or night that I don't shed a few tears . I know she is up in doggy heaven playing and having a good time with out pain, and that one day I will see her again. I love and miss her my baby girl NIna
