Pita was the best girl! She was very special to me. She was the sweetest, most loving, funny little dog. She is the most wonderful dog I've ever known, and I was so lucky to have 17 years with her. She was the best, most important thing in my life, and I am lost without her. I truly miss her little face, her kisses, snuggles, love and silliness so so much. I loved her more than anything in the whole entire universe. She loved to play, run around and squeak toys nonstop, sit (and nap) outside on my lap, cuddle and snuggle, fall asleep on me, give kisses, and eat yummy snacks. She loved fall and running and jumping through the leaves, and the wind blowing her fur. In winter, she was my little snow bunny and loved to hop through the snow. Some of her favorite things were being held and loved on, squeaky toys, being in my bed, running and hopping around, opening presents, yummy snacks and human food and eating in general, fruits and pureed pumpkin that she always got all over her "beard". She was always there with me and for me when I was sad and made my life worth living. It is so hard without her. I loved her more than anything, and our bond was truly special. I'm the luckiest person alive to have had her in my life and get to take care of her. I tried to spoil her and give her the best life possible that I could. I feel so blessed to have had her and for as long as I did, but I wish we had even more time. Living without her is the worst thing, but I cherish all the many wonderful memories we made together. Pita was my baby and always will be. I love her more than anything, and as much as I wish she was still with me, I know she will be in spirit. She and her sister will be reunited again. I hope she knew just how much I loved her and how much she meant to me. There will never be another dog as wonderful as my little Pita girl. Remember, you are my sunshine...
