

Rudolph F. Carwins

November 2, 2021

Booboo (my nickname for him), was a cat with a lot of personality. He would demand that I feed him regardless of what I was doing, or what time it was. When he was a kitten, he dragged a whole chicken, thawing in the kitchen sink. He was both regal and mischievous. I will always miss those beautiful eyes. He was a good friend, and very demanding. But he knew I didn't mind.