

Simon Dotson

July 1, 2012 - November 27, 2025

Born to a barn cat in 2012 in Southern West Virginia, Simon entered the world as the runt of a litter of kittens. He was a sickly little fellow, but parents Ashleigh and Matt knew he would be perfect for them. They nursed him back to health after a bout of ringworm, and so the love story begins. For a brief period, Simon lived in a duplex apartment, and it was here his personality really started to flourish. He was constantly into shenanigans, keeping his parents on their toes. However, each night, Simon would curl into bed as if he hadn't wreaked havoc on the apartment the entire day. His parents loved this about him; he would bring smiles to their faces just by being exactly who he was. Simon made several moves after humble beginnings starting out with two college students, but he was there every step of the way. Eventually, his journey to Chillicothe, OH is where he remained for his golden years. Simon enjoyed a quiet life with his two parents, and his siblings: Tanner, Ella, Rocky, Daisy, and Persephone. It is the hope of our little family that we will be reunited with Simon again someday, but for now, we all agree he is likely waiting anxiously at the Rainbow Bridge for the moment we will be together. We love you so much, sweet boy. Enjoy a can of tuna for us!
