

Wall-E

June 7, 2017 - February 5, 2018

Wall-E was an extraordinary friend. He loved to play hide-and-seek, where I would hide while he searched frantically and meowing as if he was calling for me. Once he'd found me, he would run, hide, and meow while waiting for me to find him. Any time I would pick him up, I would rub my nose on his ear, and he would tilt his head down and purr as if he was giving and receiving a hug. Every morning, Wall-E would lay on my chest and purr and meow until I fed him. He had nothing but love in his heart and loved being around people, especially me, and followed me everywhere. He had many nicknames like Walter, Walden, Waldo, WahWah and many more. His favorite food was chicken and was best friends with the camera. The world lost such a beautiful soul on February 8, and will forever be in our hearts. Daddy loves you Wall-E.
